Movius Identifier - Android
People use MultiLine to communicate with their clients, partners and co-workers. These clients, partner and co-workers are currently stored in Multiline as Local, Native or Exchange contacts. Today when communicating with coworkers, they need to call and message the MultiLine number of their co-worker rather than their personal.

The Movius identifier allows the end user to easily identify MultiLine users in the company across all regions where the company may operate.

MultiLine identifier visible in Recents

Indicator visible on MultiLine users in Message threads

Identifier displays on Anderson Valley SMS conversation

Movius Identifier on Contact Details screen
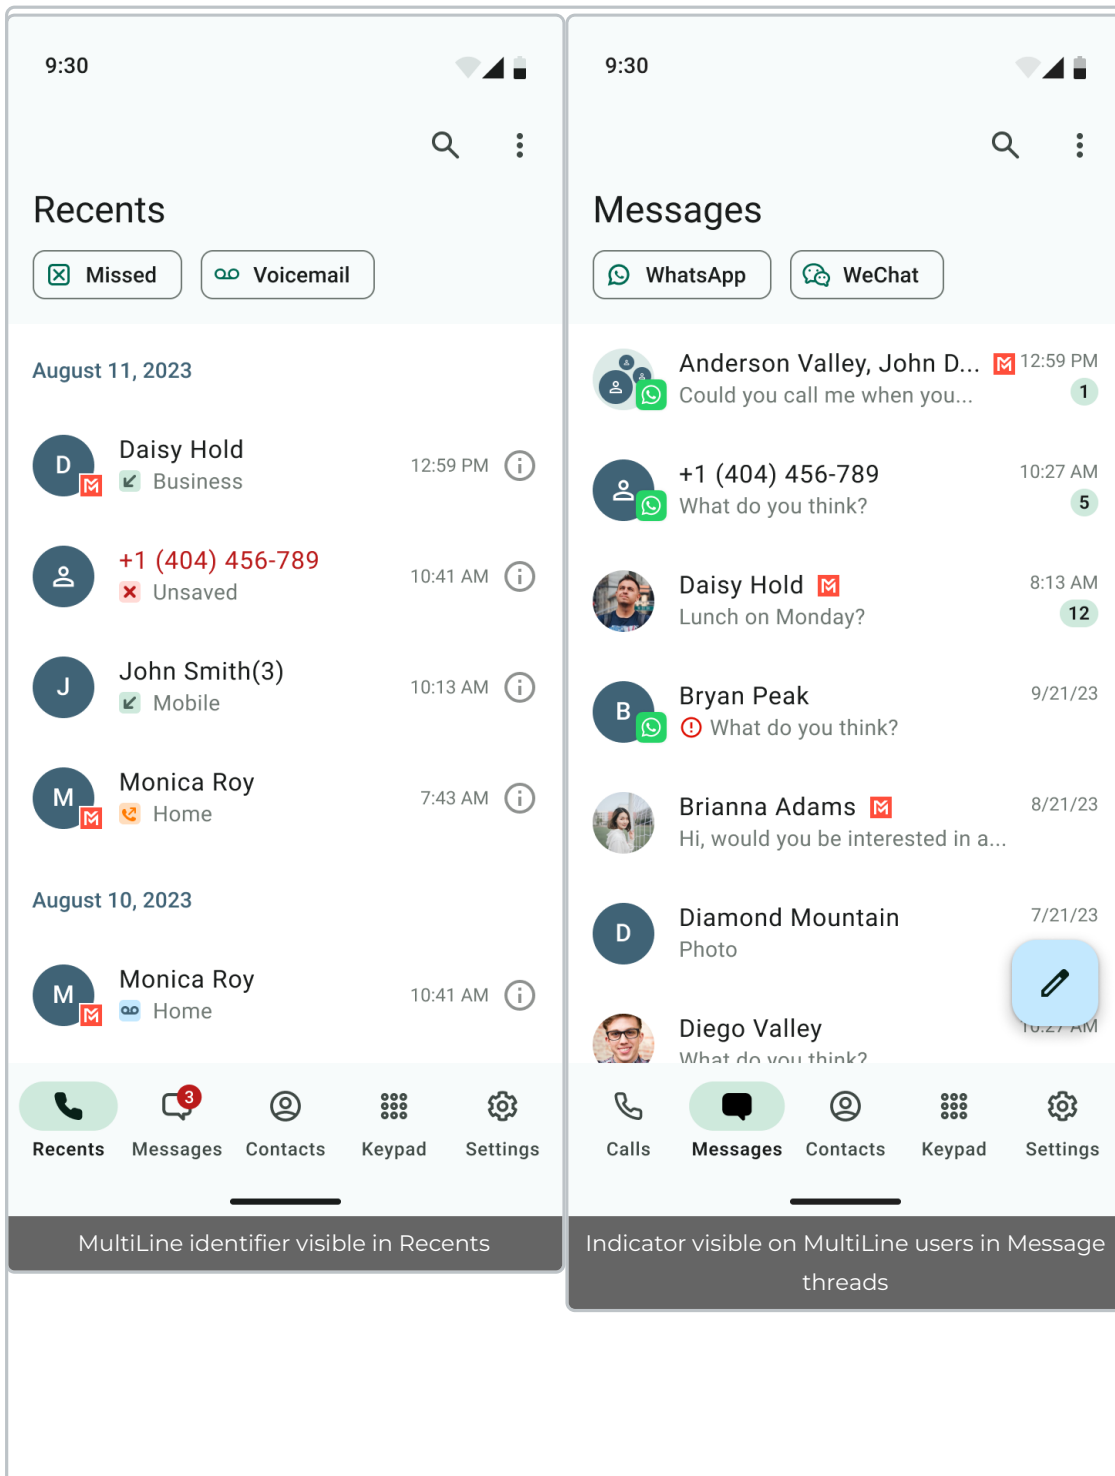

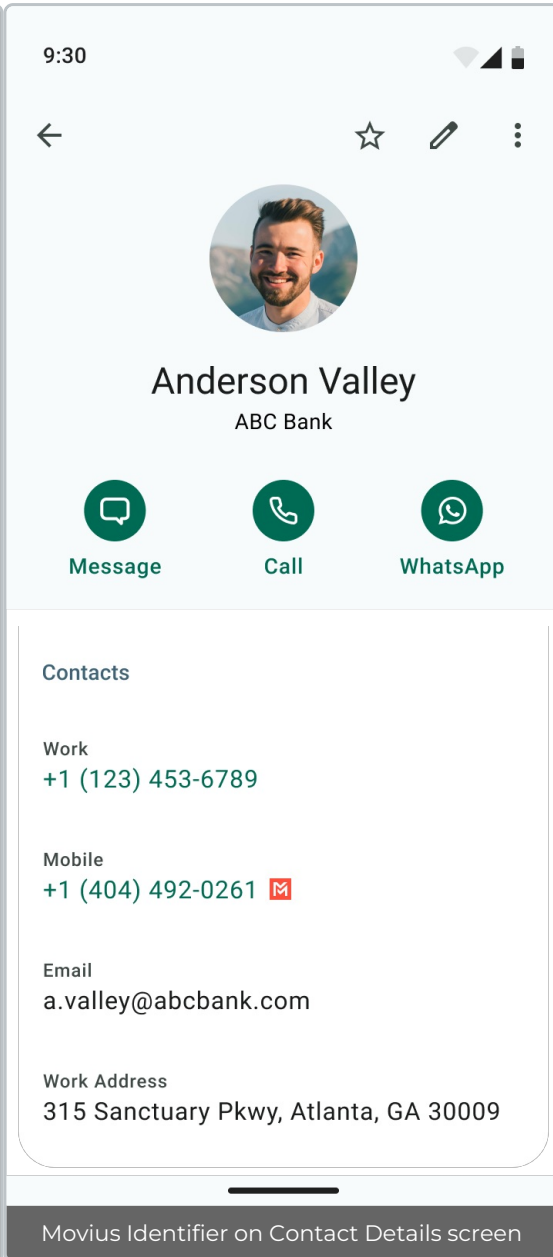

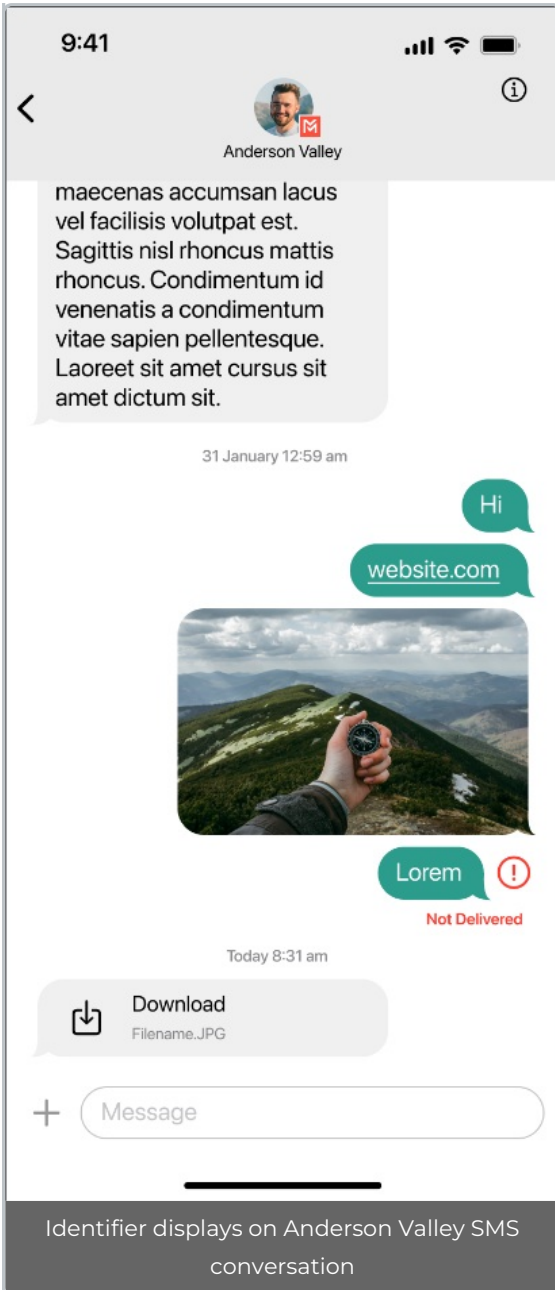

Identifier displays on group conversation with MultiLine user